Young cohorts help Adam Savage do more damage in 'MythBusters Jr.'

By George Dickie

To watch Adam Savage revel in explosions, crashes and other such destruction in his 2003-16 Discovery Channel series "MythBusters," it was clear that this is a man firmly in touch with his inner 12-year-old boy.

Which makes him the perfect choice to guide a cast of similarly minded young inventors, builders and robotics whizzes through the process of testing popular myths in "MythBusters Jr."

Premiering Wednesday, Jan. 2, on Science Channel, the new hourlong series sees Savage joined by six of the brightest minds ages 12-15 as they show off their ingenuity in designing, building, fabricating and testing. In 10 episodes, the group will determine whether it's possible to make things like a jet pack from a fire extinguisher or functioning car tires from duct tape.

"It's not a show about teaching these guys how to do stuff. It's not a kids show," Savage explained to a recent gathering of journalists in Beverly Hills, Calif. "These are the new 'MythBusters' and I'm their camp counselor and their adviser and sometimes their test subject. But the moment I heard that phrase,

'MythBusters Jr.' I saw all that. ... 'I've always thought of 'MythBusters' as an aspirational show," he continues, "specifically aspirational as in the terms of, 'Wow, I wish I could be there doing that, what those folks are doing,' and that's the show that we're making. It's like you're going to watch them blowing up stuff just as big as we did."

"We" is Savage and his original co-host Jamie Hyneman, who will not be a part of this new offering. But a product that got considerable exposure in the first series will be -- at least, initially. In Wednesday's opener, the group is charged with making two items from duct tape: a parachute and car tires.

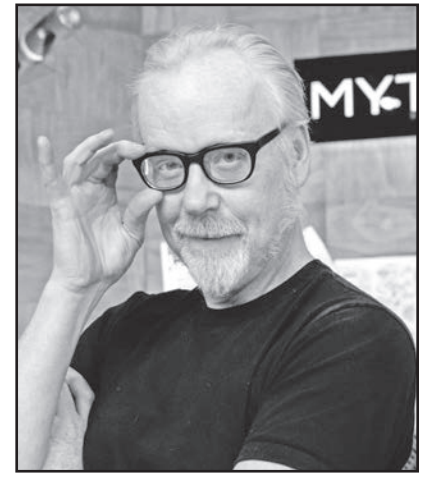

For the latter, new "MythBuster" Cannan Huey-You, a 12-year-old astrophysics major at Texas Christian University, got a memorable first driving lesson on the runway of a military base outside San Francisco to test the treadless, silvery wheels.

"I really thought that we'd tested every imaginable thing with 85 miles of duct tape, and we have two brand new ones ...," Savage says. "We found out that it's legal, on a closed course, to let him drive a car. So one of the things that we wanted to try is the old, the 'Little Rascals' thing, putting blocks on your shoe, to see if Cannan can reach the pedals."

Needless to say, some things pass and others fail -- sometimes spectacularly.

"This is the best part about making the show," Savage says, "is that, you know, we're filming all these pieces, the camera, we're building, we have one week to make every single episode, it's really tight, and then when big things fall on big things, the pure delight on their faces is just they can't hide it. It's like that's why we're doing this."

Adam Savage stars in "MythBusters Jr.," premiering Wednesday on Science Channel.

NEIL CARROLL

Recently, Bayonne lost one of its greatest political figures, Neil Carroll, who passed away at the age of 91. Neil had a remarkable career, having held positions at all levels of government from Hudson County to the staffs of four members of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Throughout the course of his years in government, Neil helped thousands of people. As the Chief of Staff for Congressmen Neil Gallagher, Dominick Daniels, Joe LeFante, and Frank Guarini, Neil was often the person that Hudson County residents turned to for help from the federal government. Decades later, people were still thanking him for arranging for veterans' healthcare, finding their loved ones places in hospitals, and obtaining other benefits for them. Neil always remembered where he was from, and that government had to work for ordinary people.

In 2016, Neil was recognized for his public service when a section of Gregg-Bayonne County Park was named after him. At the ceremony for that honor, Congressman Neil Gallagher recalled that, in 1962, Neil Carroll and his family kept apart two female members of the Kennedy family who couldn't stand each other. Both women wanted to speak at a Gallagher campaign event without seeing each other. Neil made sure that the Kennedy women got the arrangements that they wanted. That was just a small sample of the smart staff work that Neil did over his long and varied career.

Neil's family values service to the people of Bayonne. His father, Cornelius, began his police career as a patrolman and rose to the rank of Chief. Neil's son, Neil, Jr. is an attorney for the County of Hudson. Neil's daughter, Patty Carroll Smith, is a counselor for the Bayonne Board of Education. Neil's son-in-law, Mark Smith, was my predecessor as Mayor. The family is grateful that Neil lived to see his grandson, Neil Carroll III, assume the office of First Ward Council Member last month. Interestingly, grandfather Neil did not win that Council seat himself when he was a candidate in 1962. Although Neil Carroll did serve one term in elected office as a Hudson County Freeholder, it was in appointed positions where Neil found his greatest opportunities for service.

On behalf of the City of Bayonne, I would like to offer our condolences to the Carroll family. May Neil be long remembered for all that he did for the people of our community.

RESTAURANT & PIZZERIA

by Lisa Tansey

There's something special about a restaurant that is both familiar and cozy. The Italian cuisine that comes out of their kitchen is simply one of the finest in the area. Customer service is efficient as well as friendly enough to make you feel like family.

That's what you get every time you eat at Luciano's San Vito Restaurant and Pizzeria. Located at 406 Broadway, the restaurant pizzeria continues to serve us in splendor.

San Vito's is a family restaurant founded in 1979 by Luciano and Maria Ventrone. Now, the second generation is managing the restaurant. Luciano's son, Anthony, along with his cousin Antonio are now at the helm of this amazing eatery. This family oriented business knows what is important and understands how food can bring people together. That is why San Vito's has been a staple in Bayonne, for almost 40 years.

You can enjoy classic pizza, some tasty appetizers, heartwarming soups, awesome calzones, strombolis, and so much more. Pasta dishes are a favorite here and many gush about the hot and cold sandwich choices. Chicken, veal and seafood dishes are served to perfection, along with so many other staples on their menu.

For big events and special parties, they also have a catering hall across from their restaurant called Villa Maria. It seats 150 people and is a great way to get everyone together with food they'll love and a special space for celebration.

Don't forget San Vito's delivers, for those days you want to stay inside. The restaurant is open 7 days a week, from 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. so you can pop in or order a delivery whenever you please. Take pleasure in the joys offered by bringing your family to the family spot: Luciano's San Vito Restaurant and Pizzeria.
